A Message from Department Head:

GAU - Department of Architecture is increasingly being internalized critical thinking, supporting research ideas and empowering creativity. With our universal understanding based on human value, we aim to contribute to the development of architectural knowledge and to the profession of Architecture as well as to the humanity.

As academic staff of the department of Architecture, following the world and improving our knowledge day to day, with our student-centred, participatory and interactive methods, we are trying to offer the best of theoretical and practical knowledge in different specialties with interdisciplinary collaborations. We are happy to present an intellectual environment which provides opportunities of rising creative and progressive practices and discussing diverse ideas and proposals.?

Department of Architecture

GAU - Department of Architecture was established in 1994 in the Faculty of Architecture and Engineering and has been joined to the Faculty of Architecture, Design and Fine Arts since 2009. With a strong emphasis on human value and professional ethics, the department of Architecture has been offering an education based on critical and theoretical knowledge, creative design skills, the most recent techniques of presentation and architectural building technologies.

As a part of a global university with campuses based in Girne - Cyprus, Canterbury - UK and Singapore, and as a member of different international networks such as European Association for Architectural Education (EAAE), the department of Architecture is an international department with its academic staff and students from all over the world, embracing universal values and taking internationalization as a goal.

With its participative and interactive course environment, technological facilities, devoted academic staff and student-centred education approach, GAU -Department of Architecture has been offering a universal, intellectual, ethical and active education.?

The continually improving quality standards, together with education in English is a particular feature of the department of Architecture. The Department currently offers an education towards a B. Arch. Degree in Architecture (4 years).

Research Programme

GAU -Department of Architecture offers?Master degrees in Architecture, Interior Design and Construction Management and Ph.D. in Construction Management.
