The EAAE News Sheet will continue to be the main means of communication, externally and internally among the members of the Association, with its periodical edition reports about all the events where EAAE participates, as well as interviews, general news and other internal or legal affairs.

The EAAE web site is the continuous external face of the Association. Being updated regularly, it's more flexible and complements all those aspects that are dealt in the News Sheet.

However, some punctual news does not fit exactly in a piece of information to be put in the News Sheet nor in the EAAE web site. It needs extra rapid dissemination and greater scope of listeners.

Schools' activities, general events about Architecture Education, prizes, etc. are examples of what could generate an issue of the EAAE Newsletter.

The publication of the Newsletter will follow no regular pattern. As soon as we receive the information from the member Schools, or from other sources, a new issue will be delivered. E-mail will be the way that Newsletters will arrive to all recipients.

It is intended not only for Heads of Schools, but for the whole community: staff and students. So schools' ambassadors will be requested to disseminate each issue as much as possible.

This first edition (number zero) is just to inform you of the new existence of the EAAE Newsletter. The contents and frequency of the publication will depend on input from all EAAE members.
