

EAAE Newsletter

15th Meeting of Heads of Schools of Architecture Improving learning quality in architectural education environments

Chania, Crete, Greece, 1-4 September 2012

The fifteenth Meeting of Heads of Schools of Architecture in Europe will take place in Chania, Crete from Saturday 1 September 2012 (arrival day) to Tuesday 4 September 2012 (Wednesday 5 September departure day) and is entitled "Improving learning quality in architectural education environments".

The enhancement of the quality of learning appears to be a necessary condition for the improvement of architectural education in challenging times, where there is an imperative demand to do more with less.

The aim of the Meeting is to provide Schools of Architecture with ideas, proposals and directions emerging from the dialogue between those who have the responsibility of the management of the academic issues and the development of the quality of learning in their institutions. It will offer the possibility for a creative, constructive and critical dialogue between different architectural education environments and will attempt to construct the necessary bridges and platforms for the exchange of ideas, information and educational attitudes and cultures related to the quality of learning. It will examine the enhancement of the quality of learning through strategic interventions in the curriculum structure, through programs of staff development, through definition of criteria for staff and students recruitment, through the implementation of innovative teaching methods, through initiatives for interdisciplinary and trans-disciplinary educational experiences. As every year, eminent keynote lecturers are invited to contribute to the overall creative atmosphere of the Meeting.

Hoping that you will respond to this invitation, you are kindly requested to fill in and return the attached registration form by 6th July 2012. In case you cannot be with us in September, would you be so kind to identify another person, related to the administration of academic issues, to represent your School and forward this message. It is very important to have a broader range of schools from all regions of Europe in order to have pluralism, polyphony and diversity towards more representative results and conclusions.

With great faith in your support to this attempt we are making, we look forward to seeing you at Chania.

<http://www.eaae.be/events.php?show=events&type=meeting>

November 2012

EAAE/ENHSA 2012
Architecture, Reason and
"the Passions"

More information
Paris, France

16-19 October 2012

EAAE/ISUF
New Urban Configurations

[Information &
Call for Papers](#)
Delft, The Netherlands

07-10 June 2012

EAAE/ARCC 2012
Cities in transformation
Research & Design

More information
Milano, Italy

Academic Position in Sustainable Architecture, KU Leuven
More information